

Twenty video loops in each database plus four idle poses.

A loop gets activated when the red area moves over it.

It plays its loop and then stops.

When one loop plays the other ones idle position plays that directing their faces towards the active loop

If pointer stops all plays idle looking forward

The pointer is the centre of navigation and should work like this animation.